PREFERS THE PRISON.

A Japanese woman who had married a certain man to please others, was brought up in the Police Court Saturday, for deserting her husband. The woman said she did not like her husband and would not return to him. When informed that she would be sent to prison if she did not return, she said she was willing to go to prison, if necessary, for life, rather than return to her husband. The woman was sentenced to imprisonment for 10 days at hard labor, and though she was told that her husband could have her arrested again at the expiration of 10 days, she would not change her mind.

AN ACCIDENT.

MR. A. M. Hewett is temporarily absent from business, owing to an accident which has caused injury to his collar bone. While riding along Nuuanu Avenue, Mr. Hewett's horse came in contact with a rope by which another horse was tethered in the roadway. Mr. Hewett was thrown to the ground, with the result above stated. He hopes to be able to resume business in a short while. Attention has been previously called to this illegal and dangerous practice of tying horses in the roads in the suburbs of the town. Special efforts should be made to break it up, before somebody gets killed.

ALOHA, MR. MORSE.

MR. H. W. Morse is about to leave Honolulu for California, having accepted an appointment with the New Zealand Fire and Marine Insurance Company. But few young gentlemen would be so missed by this community as Mr. Morse. Having a splendid voice and being a good singer, he has been a prominent figure in local amateur public entertainments for charitable objects, during the year or two last past. Probably there is no one here capable of stepping into his place. It is not merely Mr. Morse's ability and willingness as a singer, to help on all public occasions, which have made him popular with the community; but his modest, unobtrusive, manly demeanor has won the respect and esteem of all coming in contact with him. We are sorry he is going away, and bid him adieu with a sincere aloha.

A RUNAWAY AND CATCH.

A thrilling runaway occurred Saturday night. A horse attached to a carriage containing a lady and child came tearing along Oahu Prison road, threatening at every jump of the furious horse, to go overboard into the fish-pond, and down the occupants of the carriage. Closely following the runaway came a native on horseback, and just in the nick of time, when the carriage would have turned into King street and capsized, the native caught the runaway animal by the head and stopped him. That was a lucky catch, said a reporter to the horseman. Yes, replied the native, much affected, that lady is my sister-in-law.

A GENUINE LUAV.

Waterhouse, Jr. The guests, between 200 and 300, were in old fashioned native costumes. Mats were spread under a tent in the yard, and a most enjoyable feast was held in true old Hawaiian style. Participants are enthusiastic in their commendations of the arrangements and the truly agreeable nature of the occasion.

THE BREACH OF PROMISE CASE.

On Saturday Mr. Justice Bickerton gave his decision on a motion in the case of Flora Howard St. Clair vs. W. M. Gibson, breach of promise. Messrs. Paul Neumann and F. M. Hatch, counsel for defendant, had made a motion on Wednesday for the continuance of the case until the January term, 1888, on the grounds that it was impossible for the defendant to be present at this term. Furthermore, that the defendant was sick in a hospital at San Francisco, and that his doctor had advised him that any excitement, anxiety or exertion would be liable to bring about a fatal result. Also, that upon advice of said physician he had abstained from making any deposition in the matter. His Honor said he had carefully looked through the papers in the case and could not find sufficient grounds to grant the motion for a continuance. It would, therefore be denied, and the case would take its regular order on the calendar.—[P. C. Advertiser, Oct. 24.]

DEATH OF JOHN M. KAPENA.

John Makini Kapena, who had been in a poor condition of health for a considerable time previous, died yesterday morning, between 12 and 1 o'clock, at his residence, Nuuanu Avenue. The funeral was arranged for yesterday afternoon, but the heavy and continuous down-pour of rain necessitated a change of intention. The last sad rites were therefore performed this afternoon. The procession started from the Anglican Cathedral, and the body was interred in the Kawaiahoi cemetery.

John Makini Kapena was a native Hawaiian, about 44 years of age at the time of his demise. He was a man of more than ordinary natural talent, and of superior education. He wrote and spoke the English language with ease and accuracy. He was at one time editor of a newspaper in the vernacular of the country.

The deceased served his country in various public office during most of the last fourteen or fifteen years of his life. His first appointment was to the position of Circuit Judge for the Island of Oahu. He next became Governor of the Island of Maui. Later he occupied Cabinet positions in several Administrations, as Minister of Finance and Minister of Foreign Affairs. He had also been Postmaster-General and Collector-General of Customs. Many years John Kapena was a member of the House of Nobles and a member of the Privy Council.

When the King visited the United States in the interests of the Re-procity Treaty, His Majesty was accompanied by Governor Kapena. He went to Japan as Special Envoy and Minister Plenipotentiary in 1882, and as Special Commissioner to the Louisville Exposition in 1885. Of the near relatives there is only one surviving, a full-grown daughter, whose mother died a year or so ago.

LAID TO REST.

FRED. W. SCHMIDT BURIED WITH CIVIC AND MILITARY HONORS.

The funeral of the late Fred. W. Schmidt, the popular leader of the Sixth Infantry Battalion band, which took place yesterday afternoon was the largest and most imposing event of the kind that has been witnessed in this city for many a day. The remains of the dead musician lay in an elegant casket in a room on the second floor of the Yosemite House, and were viewed by a large crowd of people who knew and honored the deceased in his lifetime, for his many good qualities. That he was not forgotten in death was shown by the beautiful floral offerings that were scattered around his casket. One of the most prominent was a floral lyre, four feet high, bearing on its arch the legend, "We Mourn Our Leader." This was the offering of the members of the Sixth Infantry Battalion band to whom the deceased was particularly endeared.

Another floral offering was a square and compass of white flowers with the letter "G" in yellow buds in the center, the offering of his brother Masons. The Sixth Infantry Battalion offering was an embankment of flowers with an arch on which was inscribed the word "Rest."

Rev. W. F. Furman conducted the religious services at the hotel, after which the funeral procession was formed and the remains were conveyed to their last resting place in Rural cemetery. It was after 3 o'clock when the cortege left the hotel. The procession formed in the following order: The St. Aloisius cadets, Captain Barrett commanding; the Sixth Infantry Battalion band and all the musicians in town, numbering forty men, under the leadership of Robert Stevens; companies A, B and C of the National guard, commanded by Captains Johnson, Nunan and Muller; Major Lehe and staff; delegations from Willow, Charter Oak and Centennial lodges, Knights of Pythias; delegations from Stockton, Truth and Charity lodges of Odd Fellows; Stockton commandery of Knights Templar; San Joaquin and Morn-Star lodges, Free and Accepted Masons.

The hearse was attended by the following pall-bearers: E. Dreyfous and J. Patarg, representing the Masons; H. C. Keyes and J. L. Phelps, representing the Knights Templar; A. Eckstorm and T. K. Hook, representing the Odd Fellows; V. P. Pritchard and Henry Kier, representing the Knights of Pythias. Following the hearse came a long line of citizens in carriages. At the cemetery the burial services of the Masonic and Odd Fellows fraternities were read, and the mortal remains of Fred. W. Schmidt were consigned to the grave. The ceremonies were concluded by the firing of a salute by a detail of men from Company C, under the command of Sergeant Stewart.—[Stockton Daily Independent, Sept. 30th.]

IN NAPA COUNTY.

St. Helena, Oct. 10.—The weather here is extremely warm, the heat being rendered more oppressive by large forest fires, which are raging on every side. On Howell mountain to the east of here, a fierce fire has been burning several days, doing great damage to private property. In addition to destroying fences, timber and feed, many vineyards have been scorched and some buildings burned. The barns of Edward Hast and A. C. Donnell have been destroyed and other farm property is in danger. On the hills west of here a vast stretch of country has been burned over and several small farm houses destroyed.

A messenger has just come to town to get help to fight the fire and save the buildings on the McCormick ranch.
